OFFICIAL PRESS RELEASE
January 7, 2011

On December 9, 2010 at approximately 9:54 AM, the Berlin Police Department responded to a report of a burglary in progress at an occupied residence located on Simms Road in Kensington. Two males wearing blue coveralls came to the door, one of them holding a clipboard. When the homeowner answered the door, one of the males forced his way past her and ran into the house while putting a ski mask on. The second male then entered the home and was confronted by the husband in the hallway enabling the wife to exit the home and call for help. Both males then fled the scene in a small boxy metallic grey sedan heading north toward New Britain.

Investigation of this incident by Berlin Police Detectives has resulted in the identification of and an arrest warrant being issued for one of suspects in this case. The suspect is identified as:
